every summer i go down to the lake and try to drown myself. After 15 years of this, i finally discovered that it would be a less arduous task if i take my life jacket off first. Realizing this really changed my outlook on life... maybe i've been taking the most difficult path all along, maybe life wasn't so hard after all, or something like that.

this is a fake

don't try and it just won't

you might want to know, that's all.

We couldn't decide what would make a good cover for the month of November. No body really cares about November, unless it's your birthday. We decided to put something delicious that we love on the cover but unfortunately salted pig parts look weird when you draw them. So here is a banana split.
